

Advance your career in Health Administration with a graduate certificate or degree.

Step into healthcare leadership with Saint Joseph's College of Maine's online graduate health administration programs. Develop necessary skills to manage teams, finances, and healthcare delivery and grow into a compassionate leader ready for the challenges of healthcare in the modern world.

Pursue healthcare administration online and play a key role in helping others receive the care they deserve.

Certificate in Healthcare Educator

This four-course certificate program is an amazing opportunity for healthcare professionals who are either seeking to transition to or advance their skills in the growing field of healthcare education.

Certificate in Long-Term Care Administration

This certificate is ideal for aspirants seeking Nursing Home Administration licensure in most states, and all the courses can later be used towards the Master's of Health Administration.

Certificate in Strategic Resource and Project Management

This certificate addresses the needs of healthcare professionals who are interested in developing or enhancing their existing knowledge and skills in strategic planning, conflict resolution, and project management.

Master's of Health Administration

Our MHA is fully online and holds the prestigious CAHME accreditation. It is designed to prepare individuals to enter or expand their career in healthcare through the development of critical competencies to develop effective healthcare managers for the future.

Post-Graduate Certificate in Health Administration — This certificate program provides students the opportunity to develop their health administration skills beyond the graduate level.
