PRESS RELEASE
FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

American College of Health Care Administrators Recognizes Long Term Care Administrator's Week

Alexandria, VA – February 19, 2015 – March 8-14, 2015 is National Long Term Care Administrator's Week. During this week, staff, residents, families, and volunteers have the opportunity to say "thank you" and honor Administrators who contribute to our nation's long term care centers.

Administrators are key players in the care team. They touch the lives of residents and families, and more importantly, ensure that their staff provides the highest level of quality care. Their job is not easy because they are entrusted with the care of a vulnerable population. To become an Administrator, they must undertake a rigorous internship, followed by state and national board exams. They are masters of multi-tasking, taking into account every aspect of a person's lifestyle, not just medical needs, on an hourly basis. On behalf of the American College of Health Care Administrators, we commend, salute and thank those Administrators in nursing homes and assisted living centers who are committed to providing excellent quality of care and quality of life for the elderly. Congratulations on a job very well done.

The American College of Health Care Administrators (ACHCA) is the sponsor of Long Term Care Administrator's Week. For suggestions on honoring and recognizing an Administrator, please visit www.achca.org. Founded in 1962, the American College of Health Care Administrators (ACHCA) is the only professional association devoted solely to meeting the professional needs of today's post-acute and ageing services administrators and executives. Focused on advancing leadership excellence, ACHCA provides professional education and certification to administrators from across the spectrum of long term care. For more information about ACHCA contact the national office at (202) 536-5120 or visit www.achca.org.
